Letter from Salem

SALEM May 9 1866

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I have noticed in the Democratic papers several contemptible flings at Mr. Mallory, for his connection with the Thespian Society at this place; and while the public may not care whether Mr. Mallory played well or ill, or whether he ever played at all on the stage, it may be but justice to him to state that the Thespian Society was organized for the published purpose of devoting itself to the aid of the Sanitary Commission and other charitable purposes. At the expense of the private purses of its members, the cost of each performance—amounting in the aggregate to hundreds of dollars—was paid, while the proceeds were in every case devoted to the aid of our noble Sanitary and Christian commissions, or to other deeds of humbler mercy. Toward the expenses of the Society Mr. Mallory always contributed his due proportion, while in no instance did he receive any benefit from the performances. Loving his country and sympathizing with the soldiers who were gloriously upholding its banner, Mr. Mallory, with many of the most respectable and worthy gentlemen and ladies of Salem, adopted this plan for raising "material aid and comfort" for the suffering sick and wounded of the loyal armies of the United States. Mr. Mallory and his associates have the proud consciousness of having contributed, by this means, tens and twenties of dollars for the alleviation of distress, where the whole combined pack of his traducers contributed one, or perhaps not a cent.

The Copperheads who hated the Union soldiers, naturally enough hate Mr. Mallory for assisting to relieve a soldier's distress. It is fitting that the sneaks and traitors, whose sympathies were all against the Union soldier, should now seek to create odium against Mr. Mallory for endeavoring, as best he could, to alleviate the woes of our brave men writhing in the agony of wounds from rebel bullets fired by fiendish traitors. Mr. Mallory has no occasion to feel ashamed of his record in this behalf. Union voters and all humane men and women, will honor him for it. None but haters of the Union soldiers and vile Copperhead traitors, ever did or ever will think less of him for it. If they can make anything out of Mr. Mallory's efforts in behalf of charity and humanity, in the name of their Satanic chief, let them enjoy it.

Connecticut

[From the Hartford Courant of April 3d.]

It was a hard contest. We had to fight desperate men. No means were too base, no measure too disgraceful to be used against the Union party. Bribery, forgery, misrepresentation, intimidation—all were brought to bear upon the campaign. But by standing firm by repelling side issues, by giving heart and hand to this purpose of crushing the remnants of Copperheadism in our State, we have come out triumphant.

The contest was a close one. The whole Democratic strength was brought out. But by earnest labor it was defeated, as in 1860, a handful of true men saved the State from disgrace.

We have chosen a loyal Governor. General Joseph R. Hawley is elected by a majority of from 700 to 1,000. The people have shown their appreciation of the man and of the principles to which he is pledged. The endeavors of the Copperheads to malign his character and impugn those principles have failed, and the State stands firm upon the platform of the Union.

The desperate efforts of the Copperheads have not been without effect. They have at last gained an entrance to the State Senate, from which they have of late been excluded. We have, however, fourteen of the twenty one Senators [probably thirteen to eight,] and two thirds of the House. Thus we have an overwhelming majority in the Legislature, sufficient to overthrow any Copperhead plans which may be laid.

[From the New Haven Palladium of April 3d.]

Returns from one hundred and fifteen towns give Hawley 848 majority. The eleven remaining towns to hear from in the Presidential election of 1864 gave one Democratic majority. We think it is perfectly safe to count on 860 majority for the gallant General Hawley.

Major General Joseph R. Hawley is elected our Governor, and O. F. Winchester is Lieutenant Governor. The whole State ticket is chosen. We have a majority in both branches of the Legislature—securing beyond question the return of Senator Lafayette S. Foster, acting Vice President, instead of the election of a "Democrat" like William W. Eaton.

"Thinks Congress Wrong."

The important announcement comes in some of the Eastern Copperhead papers that A. H. Stephens "thinks Congress wrong!" How grievous a thing it is for the National Legislature to fall under the disapprobation of this great man! But if we recollect aright, A. H. Stephens has "thought Congress wrong" for about six years. He opposed the action of Congress in reducing the South to submission, almost as vigorously as he now denounces that body for refusing to receive him and other Confederate patriots to legislate for loyal men.

THE UNION DEAD ON THE BATTLE FIELDS OF VIRGINIA.—Quartermaster General Meigs is contemplating the removal of the remains of Union soldiers from the battle fields of Bull Run, Kettle Run, and other battle fields or cemeteries of the rebellion along the line of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad between Alexandria and the Rappahannock Crossing. The remains will be brought to Arlington Cemetery, and deposited in stone vaults, under ground, over which cairns or pyramids of stones may be erected. Col. M. L. Luddington, Chief Quartermaster, Department of Washington, who was directed to make the necessary preliminary examination, has received a report from an officer who has investigated the present condition of the Bull Run battle-field. He states that many of the bodies there were not properly buried. In some cases a little earth was thrown over a soldier where he fell. The action of the weather has removed this scanty covering of loose soil, and the bones of our patriot dead lay bleaching in the fields. Hogs have rooted out the remains of many, and in some cases, it is said, the bones of our brave soldiers have been sold to the bone grinders. Where the dead lay thick on the field large numbers were buried together in the trenches and in such cases the remains have not been disturbed. But in removing them it will be hard to distinguish "Union" from "rebel" bodies. There they lay together, friend and foe; and a button or two, or a shred of blue or gray clothing affords an uncertain index of the politics of the wearer, as necessity often compelled the Confederate soldier to don the Federal blue.

It is also reported that the monuments erected on the Bull Run battle fields last summer have been mutilated and almost destroyed by evil disposed persons in their vicinity.—Wash. Star.

The Copperheads are continually inveighing against "Black Republican miscegenation." From the prefix "Black Republican," it is to be inferred that they do not consider "Democratic miscegenation" at all reprehensible. This inference is strengthened by their practices and by the soft bright yellow color of a large class of the population in the Southern or Democratic States.

A POWERFUL FACTION.—The Democrats take great delight in calling the majority in Congress "a Faction." Three fourths of the people in the Union support the views of the Congressional majority. It must, therefore, be a very powerful faction. If this overwhelming majority of Congress and the people are a faction, what term shall be applied to the miserable minority?

Beverly Tucker writes a letter approving the "President's policy." So does every other secession murderer in or out of the United States, approve it. Beverly Tucker, it will be remembered, was one of the conspirators in the assassination of President Lincoln.

Democrats have a great deal to say about the "record" of their party. Of course they mean its "Rebellion Record."

Colorado.

Late dispatches say it is well understood that President Johnson will veto the bill for the admission of Colorado, which has recently passed both Houses of Congress. If he does this the reason assigned will no doubt be that Colorado has not the requisite population to entitle her to admission as a State. But she may plead the examples of Florida, Oregon and Nevada, each of which came into the Union with a population no larger than her own. Whether Congress will pass the bill for her admission over the veto which it is believed will come from the Executive, is very doubtful. The Senators from the populous Eastern States are loth to give a Territory which was only a few thousand inhabitants equal representation in the Senate with a State which contains two or three millions of people. The nine Territories of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah do not contain more than half a million inhabitants, yet were these Territories admitted as States they would have eighteen Senators and nine Representatives, making twenty seven votes in the electoral college, or one more than Pennsylvania, whose population is nearly six times as great as that of the nine Territories combined. This is a very unequal division of political power, and it is not surprising that the large and populous States should desire to check the application of a rule which distributes power so very unfairly. The old rule, that a Territory, before its admission as a State, was required to have a population sufficiently large to entitle it to one member of Congress, has been departed from so often that it seems to have become obsolete.

Nebraska has also formed a State Constitution, which will be submitted to the people in June. That Territory is said to have a population considerably larger than Colorado.

The rebel papers and stump orators are making a tremendous howl about the "Rump Congress" keeping the Tennessee members out. Three of the Tennessee members stumped Connecticut for Gen. Hawley, who fully and emphatically endorses the action of Congress, and opposes the policy of the Copperheads. Horace Maynard and Colonel Stokes say:

> "God forbid that we should ever be called on to sit in Congress with the rebels who fought us and persecuted us because we loved the Union! That is not reconstruction—it is surrender!"

That does not look as though the Tennessee members think themselves badly or unjustly treated. The fact is, the Tennessee members are with Congress in the position that, "loyal men only shall govern the preserved Republic." Another fact is, that none of the Southern members are making half so much fuss about being compelled to wait a safe and reasonable probation, as are the traitor Copperheads of the North, who aided secession and treason through the long and terrible rebellion.

Our neighbor says that if Mr. Lincoln were now living, he would hold that the revolted States are not out of the Union, and that they are entitled to representation. We don't know that Democrats are at all entitled to speak in this way about the man they murdered. For ourselves, we suppose that if living, he would hold that those States are still in the Union, but that he would have ever consented to the admission into Congress of Confederate Generals, Congressmen and Cabinet members, we shall not believe on the assertion of the party which has been, and is still in league with red handed traitors.

A NATIONAL LABOR CONVENTION.—It is proposed to hold a National Labor Convention in Baltimore in December next, to take steps to secure the passage of Eight Hour Laws in all the States, and for other purposes connected with the rights of labor.

A Roland for their Oliver

Not long since it was announced that one Boyakin sometime a preacher and always no doubt a villain had left this State after being guilty of the grossest and most criminal conduct in the family of a friend who had given him shelter and countenance after many persons of his denomination had refused to have more to do with him The Copperhead speakers and papers have snapped at this circumstance as a god send to their sinking cause and with the assurance for which they are distinguished, unblushingly attempt to hold the Union party responsible for the crime of Boyakin The Union party is above the fortunes of any man much less can it be injured by such a villain as the old sinner referred to Boyakin returned to this State in 1864 and having been in the army lectured at Salem on the war His story was rather personal than political When he uttered Union sentiments the Union people approved them, and the Copperheads of course groaned When he told funny stories or talked of thrilling adventures, he was listened to as any other man under like circumstances would have been He had lived in this State before reputably enough so far as known He was a Democrat and a Baptist preacher and the special pet and personal associate of J C Avery, now one of the Copperhead leaders in Oregon During his last sojourn here he had nothing to do with the Union party, was never put forward by Unionists, and if he had been, they or their principles would in no way be responsible for his subsequent misconduct

Yet these demagogues of the press and his stump have been howling "Boyakin" at the Union men ever since his true character became known We advise Union men to give them a Roland for their Oliver hereafter as did Col Hawkins with Jo Smith at Salem the other day When this Rev demagogue commenced flouting "Boyakin" at Hawkins, the latter replied that he did not know Boyakin and was not answerable for his conduct. That if he, (Hawkins) had ever done anything wrong or immoral, he was ready to have Smith bring forward his accusations But he did not propose to allow Smith to be sneering Boyakin around him "Indeed " says he, "I think the allusion to the Rev Boyakin by the Rev. Smith is very unfortunate and in bad taste The unwritten, but well known history of this country has embalmed a disreputable incident in the life of the Rev gentleman by which he acquired the sobriquet of "Carving fork Smith " In this adventure the Rev "Carving fork" did not appear in the character of Joseph in the house of Mr Potiphar, but the reverse; and it is said that he still bears the mark of that formidable domestic weapon upon his person where—it is rarely seen " This thrust settled Rev Jo. He flew into a passion but couldn't explain And so, Union men, when these fellows talk of Boyakin, just give them a Roland for their Oliver by asking them "How about the Rev 'Carving-fork'—'candid 'Carving-fork?' "

A Little Difficulty to be Settled.

We know that during the war Illinois furnished soldiers by tens of thousands; and we know also that the records prove that over two-thirds of these soldiers were Democrats —M H Abbott in the Oregon Herald

We know also that in April, 1861, you, M H Abbott, said, in the Pike County Democrat, that "the people (Democrats) would NOT CONTRIBUTE ONE REGIMENT OR ONE COMPANY to make war on the South", that none but "fanatics, fools and vagabonds" could be found for the service, and that Mr Lincoln would have "to rely on the fanatics of the North" for an army In April, 1861, you said that Democrats would not enlist Read again the words you wrote then

So far then as this question of men is concerned, Mr Lincoln may rely EXCLUSIVELY upon the fanatics of the North to RAISE AND ARM AND EQUIP THEM

Will M, H Abbott of the Oregon Herald tell us whether the "two-thirds of the army" who were Democrats, were "fanatics, fools and vagabonds," or whether these "two-thirds" were altogether a myth? Will he inform us whether he told a falsehood in 1861 when he said that Democrats would not go to the war, or whether his last statement that two-thirds of the soldiers were Democrats, is an untruth? Please enlighten the people a little on these somewhat difficult points in "the proud record of the Democracy "

Let it be remembered that M H Abbott, foul secessionist as he is is less a rebel than other members of his party Let it be remembered also, that he could not get a nomination in the Democratic Convention, because, with all his treason, he was not enough a traitor How blacker than Erebus must be the character of men who were nominated over M H Abbott for the reason that even he had not descended so far into the depths of treason as to be worthy of their confidence and their suffrages !

DISENTOMBED —A E Wait, who is said to have been a candidate for Congress four years ago and to have been then buried under about 3,000 loyal votes, has by some means unknown, escaped from his entombment and is now at large He can probably be found at Sauvie's Island on the 18th inst and it will not be surprising if he should be found essaying a stump speech in favor of his "National" friend O Meara who said of him through the Standard of May 20, 1858:

A year ago Mr Wait opposed the Salem platform [Democratic] and was denounced for it now he wants to be Judge of this District and swallows all his objections adores and justifies the infamous creed and admires and supports his unprincipled defamer We trust the people will note his beautiful consistency and bear in mind that NO SUCH MAN CAN BE A SAFE OR UPRIGHT JUDGE

It is apparent that the "Venerable Buried having failed in his great scheme of 'compromise" with the rebels, had still persisted in compromising with somebody or something and so has compromised with O Meara and his own self respect

A CHALLENGE —Mr Lane through Mr Fay at the close of the speaking last night threw out a challenge to anybody who might choose to meet him, to-night The county central committe will provide a speaker to meet Mr Lane—probably more than half way UNION MEN TURN OUT !

O'Fay said last night that "Congress might as justly keep him out if elected from Oregon, as the members elected from the Southern States " We think so too

The Reporter of the 9th says A son of Mr Horn, who resides on Gaul s Creek swallowed a small quantity of ley, yesterday and died from the effects of it The boy was sixteen month old

DATES TO MAY 5

Sherman s Loan Bill

Chicago May 5 Sherman [illegible] bill authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue registered or coupon bonds in such form denomination as he may prescribe interest payable [illegible] in coin, [illegible] not exceeding [illegible] per cent per annum payable [illegible] bonds to run not exceeding 30 years and to be disposed of at not less than par proceeds to be used exclusively in reducing the bonded or interest bearing debt of the United States except [illegible]

Section [illegible] bonds issued [illegible] this act shall [illegible] the United States shall [illegible] reduced rate of interest shall also be exempt from the tax [illegible]

Section [illegible] that [illegible] shall be applied to [illegible] principal and that for the purpose of insuring the payment [illegible] of February 186[illegible] [illegible] should be paid [illegible]

Senator Sherman [illegible] offering the bill said it contained [illegible] likely to excite opposition namely the exemption from taxation of the holders of seven thirties He said a strong feeling grew out of the exemption from State taxation of a large amount of property and while the United States bonds bear interest equal to that paid upon State notes and securities subject to State taxation [illegible] will continue to increase These bonds are now subject to the income tax [illegible] owing to the $600 exemption clause, which it is proposed shall be increased to $1000 and also owing to the large amount held abroad which cannot be reached and the readiness with which the tax is avoided It comes to less than one-tenth of one per cent on the aggregate [illegible] This bill by reducing the rate of interest will save one-sixth per cent [illegible] and will involve [illegible] of the revenue from the income tax Sherman estimates that by the saving thus made a further sum [illegible] cents on the dollar will in thirty five years wipe out the whole debt, thus in effect paying the debt by the saving of interest

The second proposition likely to excite opposition is that which gives option to the holders of Seven Thirties This option will compel the Secretary of the Treasury to accumulate vast sums for the contingency that may not happen and it places him at the mercy of sudden combination when the notes mature to avoid this The bill requires an observance of the common option and law giving reasonable notice If no option is taken then it is held to be a choice of the money, and the Secretary will have six months to prepare for it

Sherman says the bill was approved by the Secretary of the Treasury and had been partially considered by the Finance Committee It is expected that the holders of the present bonds will not convert them but fortunately near all our securities will soon be within reach by their maturity It is the confident belief that this proposition reducing the rate of interest will be so far adjusted between the conflicting interests of the bondholder and tax payer that it will be accepted by both and thus consolidate the debt of the United States All the advantages proposed by the bill will be more properly considered when it is reported to the Senate In the meantime it is but right to submit it to the partial test of public judgment and to the consideration of those who pay taxes or who hold national securities The bill was referred to the Committee on Finance

Assassination of a Policeman

MARYSVILLE, May 10 —C L Doebler for several years connected with the police force of this city, was attacked and mortally shot by two assassins last night Mr Doebler lives on S street, a short distance from the corner of First. On his way home about half past 12 o clock last night as he was turning the corner of First and A he was fired upon from behind a high board fence He endeavored to draw his pistol to defend himself but was able to do so on account of a wound in the right hand The firing was kept up with effect but the wounded man succeeded in reaching a house near by whence he was removed to his own residence He does not know how many shots were fired in all but is wounded in the right hand in the left arm between the elbow and wrist through the lower portion of the stomach and in the left side below the breast. The pistols used were of very large size and were so near the body as to burn the clothes and blacken the flesh with powder The efforts which are being made to discover the assassins render it improper at present to indicate on whom suspicion rests

Total number of packages, 611.

SUDDEN AND MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—Prof Sayre, Principal of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary, last week very suddenly and mysteriously disappeared from this city, and up to the present time no knowledge of his whereabouts has been obtained, although inquiry has been made in various ways. We have so far withheld any mention of the matter in the hope that something might be learned concerning the circumstances, as there was a vacation at the Academy last week, and we were apprised of his intention to visit the University at Forest Grove. But it appears he was not there during the commencement exercises and the belief that he might have wandered away alone, and been lost is that disquieting, and the singular action it being now based upon a supposition that he has purposely absented himself from motives of insanity, still we dislike to impute to him any such designs. He has been held in high esteem and his future was bright and promising, and we are at a loss to account for his absence. The course of study was to have [illegible] on Tuesday morning last at the Academy, but under the circumstances the regular order of the institution is badly arranged. Mr Sayre is a young man, tall, about six feet in stature, full whiskers, wore dark clothes, a tall, black dress hat, and carried a small cane with an ivory top. His complexion is rather light, but the face shows the effects of his once having had the small-pox. He has a pleasant address, and a manner generally calculated to render him agreeable in society.

AT MARYSVILLE.—Boyakin, it appears from the Marysville Appeal of April 27th, has been to that city relating his seemingly inexhaustible fund of war reminiscences, jokes, anecdote, etc. The Appeal says: "He is a stranger among us," and it will be stranger if you should find him out in time. We are no apologist for villains, and Rev W F Boyakin having proven himself one of the most villainous curses that ever gained the audience of man, we would give our friend of the Appeal notice to that effect, that he may drop the loathsome old scamp. Our word for it neighbor; he may appear to you as being perfectly harmless, but in reality he is very dangerous. His utterances may seem right, but in his composition he is deadly poisonous, and would kill the hope and blight the ambition of his best friend. The people of California should be very careful how they use him. Look out for him. A more unprincipled villain does not live.

EXPOSED TO VIEW.—In removing the old wooden building on Front street, formerly known as the Farmer's Hotel, to make room for a better building, an amount of filth quite extraordinary is exposed to view. It is no wonder that our city is unhealthy—that low malignant fevers seize nearly the entire population during the heated term—with such collections of matter where there is no drainage. It will be recollected that a pool of stagnant water stood on Salmon street last season, which was almost sufficient to knock a man down, and yet it was but about one hundred feet to the river, and yesterday we learned that it came from the location above named. But we shall not presume to say that this is the only place where such stuff accumulates. There is no use in mincing matters, the city is detestably filthy, and sadly needs regenerating.

PROTECTION No. 4.—The roll of Protection Engine Company No. 4, is gradually being filled up with good names, we were glad to perceive yesterday, while inspecting a new call board, lately made and presented to the company by 1st Assistant Foreman, Mr George Hassell, who has not only done himself great credit as a mechanic, in the execution of work on the article, but performed a kind deed for his company, likely to be remembered, in presenting them with such an excellent and useful piece of work. No. 4 is the youngest company in the city, but its members are determined to excel the rest if possible, and the older companies will be required to look to their laurels.

A NEW FIRE COMPANY.—On Wednesday evening last, a petition was sent in for action by the board of city councilmen, who are asked to authorize a fire company for the First Ward. The matter was referred to the committee on fire and water, who, it is expected, will report favorably on the subject. We have been spoken to by several enterprising young men, who feel some anxiety in getting a company organized for that portion of the city, which is now becoming quite thickly settled, and we have no doubt that in case the authority is granted, we shall soon have Company No. 5, to creditably speak of.

NEW HACK.—Our friend Mr C Dilla, of Hills & Co., when on a recent visit to San Francisco purchased a most elegant Brewster carriage for business in this city. It was upon the streets yesterday, and was greatly admired. There is not a better hack, we venture to say, in any city on the coast, and to add to its attractiveness as fine a team of horses as can be picked in the State have been assigned to the duty of drawing it. The cost of the carriage, we learn incidentally, was $1,350.

UNION CLUB.—The campaign is now fairly opened in this county, and much depends upon the action of the men composing the Union party for ultimate success. It has been suggested, and the idea is a very good one, that a club be formed by the Union men, with their headquarters at some convenient place in the city, where they may meet together to become better acquainted, and post [illegible] alike with regard to the tactics employed by the enemy. Will our Union friends see to this matter?

PICNIC EXCURSION.—An excursion will be given tomorrow by the several Sabbath schools of this city, and the order of Good Templars on Ross Island. The grounds selected are said to be very beautiful at present, and no doubt a grand time will be had. The steamer Alert has been chartered for the occasion, and will leave Vaughn's wharf at 9 o'clock A. M.

LOST.—Any person finding a morocco bound pocket diary for 1866, lost on Front street in this city yesterday, will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at the Oregonian counting room, No. 5, Washington street. The book contains papers and memorandum of importance to the owner.

JUSTICE'S COURT.—J. J. HOFFMAN J. May 10th, 1866. State vs. Thomas Price, d. d., case tried and defendant committed for two days. City vs James Murphy d. d. same as above. ...City vs. Hop Wo, arraigned for depositing garbage and filth under his own premises, case continued.

IMPORTANT.—The Collector of the port of San Francisco has taken measures to stop the transportation of cattle by way of the Isthmus of Panama to California. All the Custom House officials along the coast have been notified to prevent the landing of cattle or hides from Europe or the Isthmus, or Mexico.

TO BE PAID OFF.—Colonel S Francis, Chief Paymaster in the United States Army, for the District of the Columbia, leaves by the steamer John H Couch to-day, for the purpose of paying the troops at the fortifications of the Columbia.

ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday last a little son of Mr Ira [illegible], aged about six years of this city fell from the roof of a house and was badly injured. The little fellow was doing well last evening, but he certainly ran a narrow escape from losing his life.

TESTIMONIAL.—Mrs. S M Irwin, formerly of this city, has been presented by the people of Virginia City, Montana, with a gold brooch and earrings, as a mark of respect for her talent as an actress.

OPENING BALL.—The Washington Guards Company B Oregon Volunteer Militia will give a grand military and civic ball on the evening of the 30th inst at the opening of Oro Fino Hall.

PERSONAL.—We were pleased to meet with Rev D Rutledge last evening who returned by the steamer Montana, after an absence of some months in the East.

OUR AGENCY.—Under date of April 11th Mr Bushwiller writes that great excitement exists in New York regarding the cholera. He intends returning to the city soon.

OMNIBUS LINE.—As will be seen by advertisement, an omnibus line has been established between this city, the White House and Milwaukie.

THE RIVER.—The Willamette has risen considerably the last few days at this place.

DEBT OF PORTLAND.—Our sister city in name—Portland, Maine, has a debt of $978 355 10.

MILITARY ITEMS.—We learn that Co B 14th U. S Infantry, Capt Henchen, leaves Fort Vancouver this morning for Fort Boise.

Capt. Small's Company, G, 1st Oregon Cavalry, has been ordered to Fort Vancouver for muster out.

Capt Lafollett, with his Company, A, 1st Oregon Infantry, is reported on his way down from Camp Polk, but detained on the route by high water in the Deschutes.

Green C. Patton, lately promoted to a 2d Lieutenancy in the Oregon Cavalry, was mustered in as such at Fort Vancouver on the 10th assigned to Co. B, and ordered to duty at Fort Klamath. Co. B, is at Camp Lyon.

The force at Fort Klamath consists of companies A and C of the cavalry, and a detachment of Co. I of the Oregon Infantry.

The Speaking Last Night

The audience to which the candidates for Congress spoke last evening, numbered between three and four hundred. Mr Fay opened the discussion. Without wishing to misrepresent him, it is impossible to characterise his speech as in any degree above a second or third rate pettifogging rehash of the current democratic twaddle about "radicalism," "abolitionism," "negro equality" and "taxation without representation." He endorsed Johnson. How much he endorsed him we may show when we have more room and time. One of his misrepresentations was that Congress now prescribes to the Southern States, negro enfranchisement as a condition precedent to the admission of their members into Congress. His arguments and statements in relation to taxation of the lately rebellious States were not fortunate for him, as they were false in some respects and proved too much in others, for his cause. We shall notice them hereafter. He favored the admission of Southern representatives without other conditions than that their credentials should be regular. His harangue—it could not receive any other name without exciting ridicule—was hardly up to even Fay's small calibre and fell flatly upon a crowd as apathetic as ice.

Mr. Mallory's speech entirely satisfied his friends. It was a triumphant reply to Fay, in so far as Fay's rambling remarks could be followed. Fay had occupied three quarters of an hour in the effort to show that the States which had revolted were still in the Union. Mr Mallory showed that nobody disputed the proposition. He thought the issue of the war had been a painful reminder to the Copperheads that their friends had not escaped from the jurisdiction of the Government of the Union. Mr. Mallory thought Congress was quite right in keeping rebels out. Had he a vote in that body, he would never consent to the admission of the traitors who are now waiting at Washington. He warmly endorsed the Civil Rights law, and showed that it had none of the objectionable features which the Copperheads ascribe to it—that it did not undertake to confer State citizenship or suffrage, and that considerations of humanity, as well as of sound policy required its enactment. In the course of his remarks, Mr Mallory reviewed the record of the Democratic party and proved its advocacy of the doctrines of secession and rebellion during the whole war. He showed that Fay had always been a secessionist in principle, which fact Fay openly acknowledged. Mr Mallory's speech was a good one and was warmly applauded.

The Herald of yesterday notices an incident of this kind: "An African lady was driven in a buggy by a white lady of fashion to the White House yesterday, where they were regaled with a luncheon and plenty of whisky." Then to show a proper disgust for that kind of thing, as well as to prove the wonderful resources of the Democratic intellect, the proceeding is attributed to the operation of the Civil Rights Law! We were not aware there ever was a time when two courtesans, black, white, or yellow, would have been hindered from taking a drive; but it now appears that they owe this privilege entirely to the law which lately passed Congress over the President's veto. The writer in the Herald seems to think that the white member of the party would have been quite respectable had she not been in black company. We wonder how far a person of her character is disgraced by such associations? Another inquiry suggests itself. How did the Herald writer come to know so minutely all the circumstances of the drive—"luncheon," "whisky," etc.? For his own sake he should not have left the inference that he was one of the party.

Fay, in his speech last night, had a great deal to say against "negro equality." He seems to have changed his mind on this subject within a few years. When he crossed the plains not many years ago, HE CAME IN COMPANY WITH A NEGRO, AND ATE WITH HIM, AND SLEPT WITH HIM THE WHOLE TRIP. There are men in Oregon who know this to be a fact, and who will, if necessary, make affidavit to that effect.

REMEMBER, IF YOU HAVE A COLD OR COUGH, THAT HALL'S PULMONARY BALSAM will cure you quicker than any other known remedy can do; the genuine is put up in 50 cent bottles only.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eyes on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

M. HOWARD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE,

315 Montgomery St., San Francisco.

THE ABOVE PREPARATION, WHICH HAS BEEN recently discovered and patented, is purely a Vegetable Extract.

The undersigned are fully aware of the many unsatisfactory and useless preparations for restoring hair that have been introduced to the public, and how little confidence is to be placed in any pretensions to restoring the hair to bald heads, but having tried MR. HOWARD'S PREPARATION, we are able to state that it not only prevents the hair from falling out, but absolutely reproduces it, and that we now have good suits of hair growing where we were entirely bald. Therefore, as a matter of justice to Mr. Howard, and of consolation to bald heads, we tender him this testimonial. Mr. H. keeps the article for sale in bottles with directions for its use, or applies it himself, as may be desired.

Passage of the Civil Rights Bill—Brooks leaves the House

WASHINGTON, April 6—In the House the journal was hardly read before Lane, of Kansas, offered his joint resolution proposing a basis of reconstruction He called attention to the fact that they embodied the views of the President as given in his messages, letters to State Conventions and letter to Governor Sharkey There was an effort at once to learn if the measure was held out as an olive branch by the President and for a moment Lane seemed inclined to let it appear that he spoke for the President but the cross-questioning of Trumbull and Brown forced him into admitting that he had no assurance or warrant for assuming that the Executive would sanction a measure embodying the idea of the Sharkey letter

Lane opened the debate with a most violent and vindictive assault upon Wade for his brief speech of last night.

The Ohio Senator responded in very much the same spirit and manner, and for an hour or more most direct personalities were hurled across the chamber from one to the other

Lane took the opportunity to air his services in Kansas, and howled himself hoarse in defense of the President He said the Republican party was going to pieces and he had been laboring day and night for weeks and months to avert it The burden of his speech was that he had concluded it could only be done by sustaining the President And finally he announced that hereafter he should be found with Cowan and Doolittle, and Norton and the Democrats of all shades, from Hendricks to Saulsbury The unreserved manner in which he made this avowal, prompted Wade to characterize him as ready to wear the collar of Andrew Johnson, which, of course, Lane denied with much warmth, saying that everybody who knew what Jim Lane had done in Kansas would pronounce it falsehood

The fact that Lane said to two or three Senators yesterday that he should vote for the Civil Rights bill and against the veto message gave additional interest to the debate It was of course seen that his views had undergone a very material change, in the night or morning, and there was a general desire to know what had induced this change Lane, without any apparent shame, finally gratified that desire by avowing that he yesterday intended to vote for the bill, his action therein to be contingent upon some adjustment that could not now be made This was what Judge Trumbull waited for, and he at once fastened Lane by asking him if he wanted it understood that his vote was to be given in consideration of something, or, in other words, that it was to be given as a part of a bargain There was great interest to hear Lane's answer. He was very careful not to deny the suggestion, and the galleries and Senate were left to infer that Lane found reason within eighteen hours to change front on this most important measure There is, of course, ensued considerable query as to the means used to affect this change. He answered it was the fierce speech of Wade, last evening.

The debate between Messrs Wade and Lane having closed, Mr. Doolittle got the floor on the veto message. He distributed compliments freely among members of the Judiciary Committee, and other gentlemen who support the bill, and then made a long and labored speech to show that the Johnson policy of reconstruction was inaugurated by Mr. Lincoln. Judge Trumbull and Mr Henderson worried him seriously with questions, and brought out the point very clearly that Mr. Lincoln never, by word or deed, indicated a belief that the Executive would dictate as to the admission of members of Congress

Mr. Doolittle read letters from gentlemen from Louisiana and Alabama to prove that these States are in a condition to be admitted to representation, and that the evidence before the Joint Committee of Fifteen, and as furnished by the correspondents of Northern newspapers, is incorrect as indicative of Southern opinion

Mr Davis got the floor at about half past three for a few remarks, and saying he would proceed a good deal like an October rain, viz with deliberation and very much at his leisure, he wearied the Senate and galleries with a characteristic harangue of two hours and a half, closing at six o'clock.

Mr. Saulsbury followed in a brief and furious speech, which plainly indicated that private conversation on the floor had settled the fate of the veto and passage of the bill. He denounced the measure as unconstitutional, and said its passage would be the beginning of a revolution. He affected to deplore war, but said it must come. There was no Judge in his State who would attempt to execute the provisions of the bill, and the people of Delaware would see their land drenched in blood before they would permit it. He had opposed the war of the last four years, and was now more than ever glad that he had done so, for he knew that precluded disunion. For his part, he could see nothing in the future but blood!

Mr Davis responded, that if the bill passed he should consider himself an alien to the Government and justified in resisting its action

Mr McDougall denounced the bill and predicted that its passage would inaugurate revolution

This closed the debate, and a quarter past six o'clock the vote was called, amid the most intense excitement. The galleries were crowded and hundreds of people rose to their feet, forgetful of the place and the rules of the Senate.

Mr. Wright, who appeared in the chamber for a few minutes in the early part of the day, and then retired to one of the Committee rooms, was now supported to his seat by his friends. Dixon was not able to leave his bed. When in calling the roll the name of Morgan was reached, and he responded "aye" in a clear but nervous voice, the galleries broke out into a burst of applause, which continued for some minutes, in spite of the rapping of the Vice President and loud calls to order from all parts of the chamber. When silence had been restored, the calling of the roll was finished. The announcement of the vote—33 to 15—led to a scene never before witnessed in the Senate for prolonged excitement. The multitude of people in the galleries shouted and applauded, handkerchiefs were waved, and hats thrown up. This scene was of long continuance, and during it the opposition Senators gathered up their hats and canes and retired, leaving Judge Trumbull to move the usual order for informing the House of the action of the Senate, and friends of the bill to adjourn to Monday.

The Brooks and Dodge case was settled this evening, after a three days struggle. It was thought last night that Dodge had little or no prospect of success The various speakers had so befogged the case that very few persons pretended to understand its merits, and the House was therefore disposed to let Brooks keep his seat The Chairman, Dawes, however, made a most masterly argument to-day and laid down the law so clearly that long before he closed his two hours speech it was evident that Brooks' days in Congress were at an end. The decision of the Committee was sustained by a vote of 72 to 53 Brooks bundled up his books and papers and bowed himself out of the hall into private life.

The New Island.

LATEST REPORTS OF THE VOLCANIC WONDER IN THE ARCHIPELAGO.

The sudden rise of a volcanic island in the Grecian Archipelago is one of the most remarkable phenomena of modern times A correspondent at Patchogue, Long Island, sends the N Y Herald an extract from a private letter, written near the scene of the occurrence, giving the following interesting details

SYRA, Greece, February 15, 1866

* * * The island of Santorini has been in eruption for six whole days, some say more. It is about 60 miles from here, and the water for a long distance around the island is boiling and steaming to a tremendous degree. An island has sprung up from under the sea, not far distant from Santorini, which seems to be a mountain of coal or lava, and is now about 500 feet above the surface Day before yesterday a special steamer was sent by the local authorities of this place to inspect the appearance of the new island and the condition of Santorini. The French Consul joined the expedition Among the returned passengers was one gentleman who landed on the new island, and brought back in his pocket five eggs cooked hard, which some unlucky sea bird had prematurely deposited upon the new land, which we have named the "Phenomenon."

The new island is several miles in circumference, but being of volcanic origin, it is supposed it will disappear when the internal action subsides The water in its vicinity creates a great tumult like a boiling cauldron, and at night shows white flames

There is one curious fact in this connection About ten years ago a vessel of considerable size was sunk near the island of Santorini and now all at once up comes this vessel, as good as new

THE UNITED STATES CONSUL'S DISPATCH

The United States Consul at Civacus, Greece, under date of Feb 15 1866, transmits to the Department of State a translation of a series of observations commenced the 23d of January on the renewal of activity of the submarine volcano at Santorini It appears that remarkable phenomena have for several days occupied the attention of the inhabitants of that place On the 6th instant, a low rumbling sound was heard from time to time at New Cameni, and especially at the place called Vulcan, where the mineral wells are situate At the same time large stones detached themselves from different points on the island and rolled continually down the sides The morning of the 10th the walls of buildings were covered with cracks as was also the ground Toward noon the rumblings began to be more frequent till they seemed like the successive detonations of artillery, the sea was violently agitated, and an innumerable quantity of bubbles rose incessantly from the depths on the surface and on the beach was seen white vapor with a sulphurous odor The afternoon of the same day the ebullition of the sea increased and the soil at the water's edge commenced gradually to sink down and about 5 o'clock on the sea and western side of the same port, flames were seen forming a crucial fire of ten or fifteen square metres at its base and from four to five metres in height After an hour these flames entirely disappeared A nearer examination was then made when it was discovered that a portion of New Cameni was broken to pieces and the island was completely divided by a chasm and four little lakes of pure and quite sweet water were seen, whose size was constantly increasing As the party of observation advanced toward the focus of volcanic action they noticed a sulphurous vapor; white and suffocating vapors arose from the agitated sea and from time to time roots of greenish color appeared [illegible] that the vapors which [illegible] were of hydrosulphurous and hydrophosphoric nature At the time the Consul's despatches were mailed the odor and smoke were becoming more intense, and at times red flames were seen at the centre of volcanic action and the smoke became thicker and of a deep or color It is feared that if these phenomena continue the whole island may be sunk

The Shoshone Falls

The following beautiful description of the Shoshone Falls is from the pen of A D Richardson, the gifted correspondent of the New York Tribune It appears in the issue of the 24th of February

"The river is invisible in its winding chasm, one thousand feet below the surface of the plain, but now, at three miles more clearly we hear the thrilling roar, and see the mist, with its violet tinge of the rainbow, which arises forever and ever, as if Old Shoshone were taking a vapor bath or smoking his pipe At last, we leave the coach and mules on a broken floor of brown lava, press forward a few yards, descend a precipice of three hundred feet by a natural stairway, walk a quarter of a mile across a terrace of grass, lava and cedars, and stand upon a second precipice Peering over its edge, five hundred feet below us, we behold the river, after its terrific leap, peaceful and placid as a mirror Half a mile above us, in full view, is the Great Fall It is unequaled by any in the world save by Niagara, of which it vividly reminds me It has the same horseshoe form, the same undying rainbow. The volume of water is not more than one-fourth as large, for its crescent summit is only eight hundred feet in width; but the descent (two hundred feet) is one-third greater, while just above the brink vast sullen portals of lava, rising for hundreds of feet on each bank, supply an element of grandeur which the greatest of cataracts altogether lacks. One of these lava columns is crowned with an eagle's nest. Below the Fall over the canyon's side wall, stunted shriveled cedars cling to the rocks with roots like claws Upon the withered branch of one perches a white tailed magpie, while on another, statuesque and motionless, rests an enormous raven, as black as jet.

"Not daring to attempt the descent of the upright, almost unbroken wall, without the aid of ropes, I walked along up the edge of the chasm past curious rock formations One is an natural arch or tunnel, large enough to admit a sugar hogshead. At a point just below the brink, I crept out to the edge of a projecting rock Clinging to a hardy cedar, I saw the peaceful water two hundred and fifty feet below me, the river, gliding swiftly, but calm and smooth to the dizzy edge, the long plunge, and the witches' chaldron which boiled beneath under wafting clouds of spray. The Fall itself is of the purest white, interspersed with myriads of glittering, glassy drops, a cataract of snow with an avalanche of jewels. Mocking and belittling all earthly splendor, Nature is here in her lace and pearls, her robe of diamonds and tiara of rainbow

"The world, how far away it seemed, and God, how near! Under the deafening roar, how the solid earth quailed and vibrated! How deep the chasm from which rose the pearly mist hiding forever from human eyes the secrets of its troubled heart! Long I lay upon the rock shelf gazing over the brink, riveted by the absorbing fascination of that profound and tempting gulf How easy, by one leap, to leave behind all earthly cares and griefs, to solve the solemn mysteries of death, perhaps to join the loved and lost who await us in the life which lies beyond!"

THE COPPERHEAD MEETING—The so called Democracy having failed to absorb Andrew Johnson or be absorbed by him, have gone to work in earnest to reorganize or galvanize the old Democratic party. Last Saturday night they held a preliminary meeting towards accomplishing a permanent organization They no longer hang out false colors or display false lights Senator Saulsbury was the spokesman on this occasion Here is the substance of his speech

"Mr Saulsbury said he was tired of supporting a man who would not help himself He was a warm personal friend of President Johnson but he was tired of supporting a man who let the Connecticut election go against him when he could have prevented it, who gives his offices to men who are his personal enemies, who keeps a Cabinet about him not one of whom is a friend to him, and who has scarcely a member of Congress to support his measures Let him stand by the Constitution and then I will think of work again Recognize your old Democratic association and stick to that You will undoubtedly succeed in time

He believed to day that a revolution is pending, and President Johnson would have better work for Southern men than hanging them He believed to day that when Jeff Davis left the Senate he was a better Union man than Abraham Lincoln This he would say on the floor of Congress before he got through. The work of Congress amounts to usurpation, and what it passes are not laws. He would say, stick to your Democratic association.

"Senator Saulsbury made another attack on President Johnson, saying that nearly all the Democrats in Congress were sick at heart because the President would not attempt to help himself He still clung to the vilest of the vile—Edwin M Stanton—and to Secretary Seward, who had brought all this trouble and war upon the country. With a thought that Congress would attempt to impeach President Johnson, the Democratic members of Congress were indeed sick at heart"

So you see by this and by that, that the President don't suit the extremists of either the radical Republicans or the radical Democrats—[Washington Cor. "Alta California."

POLITICAL PARASITES.—The manner in which politicians are trying to use the President's name and influence, in State and local elections of late, appears to be one of the most disgraceful and mischievous errors of the time In this State in New Hampshire, in Maine, in Connecticut, to read the newspapers, one would think that the only question an American voter asks, on his way to the polls, is, not what is for the best interest of the country, or the State, or the town; not which candidate is the more honest and capable man, or upholds the wisest principles, but "which ticket does the President of the United States wish to succeed?" Constitutional liberty would not be worth five years' purchase in this country if the people were really as debased, as sycophantic, as the politicians represent them to be If the subservient spirit which animates the Copperhead leaders, which carries them again and again into the lobbies of the White House to lick the Presidential boots in hopes to curry a little official favor—if this mean spirit had infected the minds of the people, despotism would not be far distant—[New York Post

CHINESE NEWSPAPER —The first number of the Chinese newspaper published in London by Professor Summers, under the title of the Flying Dragon, contains some general remarks upon the advantages to be derived from newspapers, a summary of European news, including Lord Palmerston's death, the loss of the London the death of King Leopold, and the close of the civil war in America, next a dissertation upon railways, their usefulness economy, and other advantages, and lastly, some information which it must have puzzled the worthy professor to put into Chinese, viz advertisements of English products and business patent cartridges steam plows matches, Colt's revolvers, etc The second number contains a map of Europe

CHANGE OF TUNE —The Democracy just now are singing praises to Andrew Johnson Here is what one of their journals said about him in 1861 There is a perceptible contrast between this language and the laudatory, honied words wherewith they now speak of him

Andy Johnson we see is still making speeches in East Tennessee He travels from one appointment to another amid the kicks and curses of an outraged people There is an end to forbearance We hope the traitors of East Tennessee will put a stop to this man's treason by tearing his slanderous tongue from his foul mouth

"COLLIDE"—Josh Billings says "I could never find the meaning of the word 'collide' in Worcester or Webster But, riding the other day on the New York Central Railroad, I saw it all It is the attempt of two trains to pass each other on a single track If I remember correctly, it was a signal failure."

WONDERFUL INCREASE IN THE ARRIVALS FROM EUROPE—The total number of emigrants arrived at the port of New York for the month ending March 1 1866 was 14,204 The following table showing the arrivals for the first quarter of the present year as compared with the same period of 1865 will be found interesting

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time
